PALOUSE REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION PLANNING ORGANIZATION

FY 2017-18 UNIFIED PLANNING WORK PROGRAM July 1, 2017 - June 30, 2018

I. INTRODUCTION

The Boards of Commissioners of Asotin, Columbia, and Garfield Counties established the Palouse Regional Transportation Planning Organization (PRTPO) by resolution on January 16, 1991. Whitman County became a member of the PRTPO in July 2003 through an Interlocal Agreement signed by all four counties. On January 14, 2015 an interlocal agreement for the reformation of the Palouse RTPO was signed into effect by all four counties, towns and cities (except the town of Lamont, Malden and Oaksdale). The term of this new agreement is perpetual until the joint and comprehensive undertaking is either voluntarily dissolved or discontinued pursuant to RCW 47.80.020, or as established by an amendment to the Agreement.

Presently, the PRTPO includes the geographic area within the boundaries of Asotin, Columbia, Garfield, and Whitman Counties, Washington. In 2003, the Governors of the States of Idaho and Washington designated The Lewis Clark Valley Metropolitan Planning Organization which includes the cities of Lewiston, Idaho, Asotin and Clarkston, Washington, and parts of Asotin County, Washington. Asotin County has membership in the MPO and is an adjunct member of the PRTPO.

Currently SEWEDA (Southeast Washington Economic Development Association) is the acting lead agency responsible for the Administration and Finance operation of the RTPO. According to a meeting held in April 2015, SEWEDA will continue to serve as a lead planning agency for RTPO Policy Board until 2017. Further approval will be needed in 2017 to establish continuity as a lead agency.

II. PURPOSE

The purpose of the Palouse RTPO is to provide a continuing, cooperative, and comprehensive transportation planning process that provides continuity to the transportation planning in the four-county area. Through this forum, the Palouse RTPO prepares and maintains a decision-making process for regional transportation planning which augments and supports local transportation planning programs within the individual counties.

The Purpose of the Unified Planning Work Program (UPWP) is to identify work proposed during the next funding cycle organized by major activity and task. The UPWP was prepared in accordance with the State Fiscal Year 2018 UPWP Planning Guidelines dated Dec, 2016.

III. REGION'S KEY ISSUES

Transportation planning is an adaptive, community involved and a long-term iterative process. The process includes conducting studies, allocating funding, and designing solutions before constructing projects and a final achievement being a completion of a project. The starting point is identification of issues facing the region.

The Palouse RTPO region has many important transportation issues that region is dealing to improve every day. Issues include preservation and maintenance of existing structures, Safety, Mobility, freight corridors and Public Transportation to improve access to jobs, recreational areas, medical and commercial services, and social activities. Well thought out investments can produce large economic returns for the region and the state.

The region has a fairly balanced multi-modal system that includes river, road, rail, and air transportation. The most critical portion of the system is the road network. All shipments of goods start and finish on a portion of the road system. The roads consist of State highways, county roads, and city streets. All are critical to the efficient transport of goods and services in the region.

The new manufacturing facility opening by the Starbuck, WA in Columbia County on SR261 would be a corridor to look and plan for as the company- Columbia Pulp is planning to add more than 50-100 jobs in a region in an upcoming couple of years. Traffic flow and its effect on current traffic will substantially change once the construction and operation phase of the company begins.

Several factors affect the ability of the multi-modal system to service the economic and social needs of the region. These include the Snake River and short-line railroads needed to transport grain and other regionally produced commodities to major ports for shipment within and outside of the United States. The Snake River usually requires a dredging effort every 7-9 years to maintain sufficient depth for fully loaded barge traffic, which was recently completed in 2015. With the dredging completed, the Portland port's decision to stop shipping containers due to lack of container demands is turning shippers to find other modes to move commodities and creating difficulty for certain shippers. In addition, an upcoming extended (14 weeks) river navigation lock outage beginning Dec 2016 will add concerns for freights and goods mobility. Economic viability of the system can be compromised when shipping avenues are not available when needed. However, the region is working extremely hard towards finding various alternatives during this period to keep commodity and economy moving.

Short-line railroads are a critical link for transport from local collection points to barging facilities or rail terminals for onward movement to regional transfer facilities. Maintenance of rail facilities is necessary for efficient rail operations. Although there have been recent investments into some of the local short line rails, additional investment must be made to prevent further deterioration. Otherwise, travel speeds will be further reduced, increasing operating costs and reducing profitability. This may result in additional rail line abandonment.

Both of these systems are critical in moving freight through the region. A reduction in capability of rail or river transportation capability will result in significant trip and load increases to the road system. The current road system is not adequate for regional needs in many areas to support year-round trucking, for efficient access throughout the region, and for adequate safety. During the spring thaw, many local and county roads have weight restrictions imposed to prevent surface deterioration. Most of the regions roads are narrow, have impaired sightlines, and have inadequate structural section to support heavy loads.

Air service is another key component to the transportation infrastructure, both in terms of passenger and cargo capabilities. Carriers may reduce services as operating costs increase. Ongoing strategic investments into the air transport system may be required in order to improve the facilities so that the necessary volumes of traffic, both for the transport of goods and of people, are able to be maintained in an economically efficient manner. The runway realignment project at the Pullman-Moscow Regional Airport is a critical project that, once completed, will provide for the continued viability of that critical transportation resource. Additionally, airport access for heavy loads is also restricted by the local road system and the seasonal weight restrictions that are placed upon them.

The Palouse RTPO region also recognizes a need for connecting public transportation within the four counties. We work constantly with our Public Transit Subcommittee to look at various opportunities to coordinate and facilitate transportation services to facilitate job growth and various other opportunities an individual can benefit from the connected public Transit services. Community has been seeking an intercity network that can connect Moscow, Pullman, Clarkston and Spokane, in addition there has been plenty of effort is being recognized by various nonprofits to provide vanpool and various other public transportation services to small rural towns within the region to connect them to Pullman and Clarkston cities. Public transportation funding has been a big concern for the region due to limited money and an increased demand of additional public transportation services.

IV. RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENTS

V. CONSISTENCY WITH THE WASHINGTON TRANSPORTATION PLAN

The Palouse RTPO supports the investment guidelines and key policy recommendations of the Washington Transportation Plan 2040 (WTP2035 and 2040). The guidelines include: Preservation, Safety, Mobility, Environment quality and health, Stewardship and Economic Vitality. The critical messages include an identifiable need for secure, sustainable, long term source of funding for transportation and maintain reliable, efficient freight movement within the state. Key finding of the WTP2035 include: Preservation and Maintenance, Safety, Freight mobility, Public Transportation, Public Health and Accountability and Transparency. WTP 2035 also talks about three specific areas for increased state involvement with Transportation corridors, Special needs Transportation, Connecting communities. The main body of the WTP contains additional information.

In 2016, the Palouse RTPO kicked off a long term Regional Transportation Plan envisioning transportation needs of 2016-36. The plan is in a final stage development and will be out for public input and board approval in March- April 2017. The plan is being developed to be consistent with Statewide Transportation Planning efforts from the WSDOT WTP 2040.

VI. WSDOT UPWP GUIDANCE
